WELCOME FROM THE MAYOR OF TOWNSVILLE

On this 111th anniversary of Anzac Day, we pause to honour the courage and sacrifice of all the Australian and New Zealand men and women who have served, and who continue to serve, our country.

The Anzac story began on the shores of Gallipoli at Anzac Cove, and its legacy continues to live on in the hearts of everyday Australians. The history of the ANZACs has shaped who we are and what we value, reminding us of the strength found in courage, resilience, and the enduring spirit of mateship.

We owe so much of the life we enjoy in Australia to the ANZACs, and to the generations of brave, selfless servicemen and women who have followed in their footsteps. Their willingness to stand in harm's way and put their lives on the line so others can live in peace and freedom is a gift we should never take for granted.

As we remember them today, we reflect not just on their sacrifices, but also on the responsibility we share to uphold the values for which they fought. The ANZACs' legacy endures through our gratitude, respect, and commitment to keep their stories alive.

Lest We Forget.

Cr Nick Dametto
Mayor of Townsville

WELCOME FROM THE RSL PRESIDENTS

TOWNSVILLE RSL SUB-BRANCH

When first light breaks on The Strand this Anzac Day morning, the people of Townsville will be gathered in quiet reflection and shared remembrance. We will reflect on the service and sacrifice that shaped our nation. It is our chance to honour those lives lost in war and conflict.

Later during the city's march, it is our chance to acknowledge the veterans who returned and appreciate the men and women who continue to serve our country today. Furthermore, we recognise behind every current and former veteran – stands a family, a community and a story of commitment that deserves our respect.

This year also marks an important milestone, on 1 March the Australian Army proudly marked 125 years of service to the nation. This highlights that for generations Australian servicemen and servicewomen, have stepped forward to defend our country, support our allies, and assist communities at home and abroad. We honour all veterans, past and present and thank them for those generations of dedication and sacrifice.

Townsville understands service in a very real way. As Australia's largest garrison city, we are home to thousands of Defence personnel, veterans and their families. Their commitment to duty forms part of the life of this city, not only in times of conflict, but also when communities face hardship, natural disasters and uncertainty.

The original ANZACs did not seek legend or recognition – they answered a call to duty with courage, resilience and most importantly, mateship. Their example reminds us that the ANZAC spirit lives on, through those who continue to serve today and through communities that stand with them.

As we pause together on Anzac Day morning, we remember those who gave their lives, those who returned bearing the scars of war and those who continue to serve. Another year has passed and we again stand together in silence to remember them.

Lest We Forget.

Sincerely,

President
Townsville RSL Sub-Branch

THURINGOWA RSL SUB-BRANCH

On 25 April every year, Australians and New Zealanders recognise this date as a day of national remembrance.

This date not only marks the original landing at Anzac Cove, but we remember all our servicemen, women and service animals from all conflicts that have made the supreme sacrifice in the service for our country.

This year I ask you all, when you pause to commemorate ANZAC Day - whether it be attending the Thuringowa or Townsville City services, one of the services further afield or commemorating privately - to please look around and take note.

Look around for that mate, that brother, that sister, the one that is always there. Look to the widows, look to the families left behind. If they are not there, ask yourself why and give them a call and check in. With the current world climate, it could be things feel a little too close for comfort for some of our mates, particularly those that in recent years served in the Middle East. It is okay to not be okay, the world is heavy. Help is available. Don't suffer alone, reach out for a mate, share the burden.

I also note that the 1 March this year marks 125 years since the formation of the Australian Army. 125 years of service to our great nation. This in itself is a milestone to pause and commemorate. 125 years of our grandfathers and grandmothers, our fathers and mothers, our uncles and aunts, our brothers and sisters, our sons and daughters, and our mates giving up the life they know and love to serve us.

Lest We Forget.

Sincerely,

President
Thuringowa RSL Sub-Branch
